Milliman and Enclarity Announce Business Alliance to Enhance Provider Analytics and Insight

Solution integrates Milliman's MedInsight software and Enclarity's ProviderPoint hosted service

SEATTLE, Wash. and ALISO VIEJO, Calif., August 14, 2012 – Enclarity, Inc., a leading healthcare information solutions company, and Milliman, Inc., one of the premier global consulting and actuarial firms, today announced a formal business alliance between the two companies to jointly offer an integrated solution of Milliman's MedInsight® software and services with Enclarity's ProviderPoint® hosted provider data management solution to health plans, employers, and government entities throughout the U.S.

Milliman will offer Enclarity ProviderPoint to its installed base of more than 140 MedInsight clients. In addition to more accurate provider data from Enclarity, MedInsight clients will gain access to a variety of data elements such as suspect indicators, group practice affiliation and additional practice locations. The companies will also bid together on large, complex opportunities where the combination of ProviderPoint and MedInsight can offer unique solutions to client problems. The joint offering will be made available to clients immediately.

"Teaming Enclarity's provider data cleansing and data management capabilities with Milliman's MedInsight portfolio of solutions and services for data warehousing and healthcare analytics is a powerful combination that will benefit healthcare payers," said Sean Downs, chief executive officer, Enclarity. "Working together furthers our strategy of applying complementary solutions to help the health plan, employer, ACO and government markets."

"Our business alliance with Enclarity will offer our many MedInsight clients a value-added service that will enhance MedInsight's analytical capabilities," said Kent Sacia, Principal and MedInsight Practice Leader at Milliman. "We're constantly seeking ways to extend the value of MedInsight. We believe that the combination of our solution and Enclarity's ProviderPoint will enable our clients to gain deeper understanding of their providers, which is a key part of the equation to lower healthcare costs and improve quality."

With a Master Provider Referential Database containing detailed demographic information on over 6.5 million healthcare providers, and a unique technology that assures the information stays correct and current, Enclarity is the most trusted source of healthcare provider information. Its ProviderPoint data cleansing service is used by more healthcare payers than any other solution.

Through its MedInsight practice, Milliman offers one of the industry's most adopted portfolios of solutions and services for data warehousing and healthcare analytics, assisting payers, employers, government entities, community coalitions, and other markets. The portfolio consists of the MedInsight Analytic Platform, several self-sufficient point solutions focused on specific analytics, and a variety of consulting services aimed at improving overall business performance and patient health.

Based in Seattle, Washington, Milliman's MedInsight team has been helping clients improve their business performance since 1997 by assisting them in leveraging their data assets. The MedInsight team works with clients of many types and sizes. The team's largest client has more than 30 million members while smaller clients have fewer than 25,000 members.
